

As a resident of Yorktown, we have no other alternative for contemporary Christian music other than KLOVE radio. The existence of this station has helped bring the Christian community together in the sprawling area of Hampton roads by making us aware of all of the upcoming Christ centered events happening within our community. There is no other way for this type of information to be conveyed in our area. The events that are contemporary in nature are not covered at all on any of the local Christian broadcasts because they are not contemporary stations. There is no other means by which concerts, and the like can be made available to the general public. I believe that KLOVE serves the public interest because there is no other broadcast of this nature in this area. KLOVE also provides a way for non profit organizations like churches to advertise upcoming events like vacation Bible School for kids in a particular area. I certainly can't imagine any other local station offering free time for those sort of public service announcements. KLOVE is uplifting, positive and character building radio that serves this community well.
